It has been an exceptionally busy last three months at Jayce's World. We have a schedule intact for you throughout the summer until the end of this year.

The month of April saw the first launch of third book, Jayce's Alphabet Rules alongside a diverse educational gift box introduced to my website. The Mayor of Sutton Coldfield graced the event amongst other dignitaries.

PROMISING LAUREATE OF THE YEAR AWARD

I was awarded Promising Laureate of the year by The prestigious British International Youth College at the age of 5 and was the youngest to receive this award. This ceremony took place at the British Parliament House of Commons in Westminster.

I received an award in the first place for best handwriting in this year's handwriting competition at my school.

CELEBRATING CULTURE

I attended my first Mogamo Midlands, UK cultural meeting and was warmly welcomed by all. Mogamo is an association that represents Batibo community (a village situated in the Northwest Region of Cameroon). Our cultural values hold us together by creating a common understanding and practices.
